

Pair of green Chinese Peking glass bowls, late 19th century
POA

Pair of green Chinese Peking glass bowls, late 19th century, each rising from a short foot and with an everted rim.

Condition: Minor scratches to the surface

Notes: Peking glass originated in China in the 18th century, after Jesuit missionaries introduced modern glass-making methods. Soon after, the Kangxi Emperor established an Imperial glass-works to produce snuff-bottles and vases, usually imitating jade and other precious stones. The craft then spread and was adopted by artisans across China, reaching a golden age under the Qianlong Emperor.

Material and Technique	Peking glass
Origin	Chinese
Period	18th Century
Diameter	Diameter: 11.4cm. (4 1/2in.)
Dimensions	Height: 5.8cm. (2 1/4in.)

Antique ref: V964