

Japanese tokkuri, circa 1680, Edo period (1615-1868), in the kakiemon style decorated in Holland in the 18th century
POA

Japanese tokkuri, circa 1680, Edo period (1615-1868), in the kakiemon style decorated in Holland in the 18th century, of square cross-section with slightly tapering sides, painted with enamels of blue, green, yellow, red, and black enamels, with gilded highlights, decorated with chrysanthemums, ho-ho birds, butterfly and swallow above banded wheat sheaves and partridges, alternating with sides decorated with a ho-ho bird amongst luxurious flowers, the sloping shoulders with green karakusa on a red ground, the trumpet neck with flower heads.

Dimensions:

Height: 26.5 cm (10 3/8 in.)

Condition: Hole to base, large chip to rim, both repaired to a high standard.

Material and Technique	Porcelain with overglaze enamel decoration
Origin	Japanese
Period	17th Century
Condition	Very good
Dimensions	Height: 26.5 cm (10 3/8 in.)

Antique ref: W272