

Gold Ring in 18ct Gold date circa 1970, Lilly's Attic since 2001
£475.00

Q: What was the mood ring fad in the 1970s?

A: The mood ring was one of the biggest fashion fads of the 1970s. Marketed as an accessory for the "Me Decade," a time when people began to actively explore their feelings, the colour-changing jewellery first became popular in New York City and quickly spread throughout the United States.

Period	1970s
Style	Vintage
Condition	Excellent
Materials	Gold
Carat for Gold	18 K

Antique ref: Lilly's Attic - SHAPIRO & Co