

Timor WW Dirty Dozen
£1,650.00

Part of the collectable and sought after so called ' Dirty Dozen' British Military watches from the second World War.

This Timor is an original example of the watch, yes it shows some wear and tear and most likely battle hardened but appears to have those original dial, hands and hour markers in place.

Black dial, approx 36mm steel case the hands and hour markers show clear discolouration and age as does the case.

Dial signed 'Timor' and with the British Military 'Arrow' marker. To the rear of the case the stamps and markings are clear to be seen.

Operating from a 6060 Caliber movement.

Generic green textile strap and steel buckle.
