

Vintage sputnik gold and diamond earrings by Gillian Packard SKU: 7305
DBGEMS
£3,950.00

SKU: 7305

Stylish 18ct gold platinum and diamond sputnik drop detachable earrings, signed by Gilian Packard, hallmarked London 1972. You can make 4 different pairs of earrings see photos. Longest configuration 45mm. 20mm diameter. 0.60cts of brilliant cut diamonds. Gilian Packard was one of the ground breaking jewellery designers at the vanguard of redefining jewellery design during the 1960s following the post-war austerity years of the mid-20th century. Packard contributed to the exhibitions at the now famous 1961 International Exhibition of Modern Jewellery 1980-1961, curated by Graham Hughes and the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths, in Goldsmiths Hall London, while still a student. The exhibition set out to promote new design in what had become a rather stagnant industry, creating pieces of modern design for the modern world.

Origin	British
Period	1970s
Style	Mid-Century
Condition	Excellent
Materials	Gold
Main Gemstone	Diamond
Main Gemstone Cut	Brilliant Cut

Carat for Gold

18 K

Antique ref: 7305