History: Adler Jewellery is a distinguished name in the world of luxury jewellery, known for its exceptional craftsmanship and innovative designs. The company was founded in 1886 by Jacques Adler in Istanbul, Turkey. Born into a family of jewellers, Jacques Adler honed his skills from a young age, eventually establishing his own workshop where he began creating exquisite pieces that quickly garnered attention for their beauty and quality.

In the early 20th century, as political and social changes swept through Europe and the Middle East, Jacques Adler decided to relocate his business. In 1972, the company moved its headquarters to Geneva, Switzerland, a city renowned for its high standards in jewellery and watchmaking. This move marked a new chapter for Adler Jewellery, allowing it to expand its reach and influence within the luxury market.

Under the leadership of subsequent generations of the Adler family, the company continued to thrive. They remained committed to the traditional techniques and high standards set by their founder, while also embracing modern design and innovation. The fusion of classic craftsmanship with contemporary aesthetics became a hallmark of Adler Jewellery, setting it apart from its competitors.
