£3,950.00

Antique Edwardian 18K Gold and Platinum Brooch with Natural Pearl and Diamonds (Circa 1910)

This exquisite Edwardian brooch is crafted with an 18K gold backing and topped with platinum, showcasing the fine craftsmanship and elegance of early 20th-century jewellery. At the centre of the brooch is a stunning 8mm natural freshwater pearl, surrounded by a dazzling halo of 20 old European cut diamonds with a combined weight of approximately 1.24 carats. The diamonds are graded VS1 clarity and E-F colour, adding brilliance and sophistication to the piece.

The intricate filigree design is further enhanced by 24 tiny rose-cut diamonds, creating a delicate and refined aesthetic. Although too small to measure for clarity and colour, these rose-cut diamonds add texture and shimmer, perfectly complementing the central pearl and European cut stones.
