

Indian bronze figure of a Goddess, probably Parvat POA

Indian bronze figure of a Goddess, probably Parvati, South India, 16th/17th century, standing in tribhanga on a lotus base on a square plinth, her right hand raised in vitarka mudra with her left hand at her side, on her head a tiered headdress, with hoop earrings, ; condition: old repair to back of left arm. Provenance: Collection of the late Andrew Solomon, London, inv. no. A96. Purchased from Sotheby's London, 10th June 1985, lot 217.

Origin	Other
Period	17th Century
Condition	Very good
Dimensions	height: 7 1/2in. (19cm)

Antique ref: U473